

Mother's Day Mayhem

Miss Harmony's class had been making Mother's Day cards. Miss Harmony, working with Green table, made a card for her mother too. The message inside read: 'If I could smell this, I would think of you.' Miss Harmony had painted a bunch of fragrant roses. Unfortunately, while she was away helping Lauren on Red table, someone on Green table stuck a picture of a large hippopotamus over the roses and then sealed the envelope. The card was delivered on Sunday and Miss Harmony's mother was not impressed.

On Monday she demanded to know who the culprit was and threatened to cancel the class treat to the chocolate factory which was coming up on Friday. Nobody wanted to be a complete snitch but in the end it was agreed that the class would give clues and the chocolate factory trip would still go ahead. Can you help Miss Harmony find out who added the picture? You will need to fill in the information table before deciding who is guilty.

Name	Gender	Number of petals on card	Flower	Message in card	Favourite saying	Time of breakfast	Which breakfast?	Guilty or not?
Gary	M	28
Lucy	F	27
Callum	M	84

Messages inside card

- Behind every Mum is a basket of dirty washing.
- The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world.
- I child-proofed my house but they still get in.
- By the time a mother realises her mother was right, she has a daughter who thinks she is wrong.
- I was going to buy you an amazing present but then I realised you have got me already.
- Relax totally this Mother's Day. P.S. When is tea?

The message in Connor's card starts with an imperative verb.

Both the girls' messages start with a pronoun. There is a hyphen in Lucy's message.

Ihtishaam starts his message with the definite article.

Both Gary's and Callum's messages start with a preposition. Gary's has two adjectives; Callum's has one.

Work out who wrote which message and write the letter in the table (a,b,c,d,e or f)

Mother's favourite saying

- What part of the word 'No' do you not understand?
- If the wind changes, your face will stay like that.
- If you don't eat your rice up, you'll get spots.
- One day you will thank me.
- I won't tell you again.
- If your friend told you to jump off the roof, would you do that too?
