

LO: To edit and redraft using appropriate layout for instructional text.

Instructions:

Read this text carefully until you understand it fully. Your task is to re write it using the conventions of instructional text.

As my word processor is not working, you will need to correct spelling and punctuation errors. You may change the order of words, or improve clumsy sentences if you think it is necessary to make the text clearer. You are allowed to mark on this sheet if this will help.

Get yourself a feew slices of taost by doing the following things.

You get some slices of bred and put them under the grill until they are brown on both sides if you wont the butter to bee hot then you need to butter ti strait away if you dont like sogg y toast then you have to leave it for a few minuts to cool down else the butter will melt when you put it on. Cut the taost into 2 pieces and put onto a plate so you don't drop crums all over the place. You mite like to have jam or marmalade on your toast. Or egg.

LO: To edit and redraft using appropriate layout for instructional text.

Instructions:

Read this text carefully until you understand it fully. Your task is to re-write it using the conventions of instructional text.

As my word processor is not working, you will need to correct spelling and punctuation errors. You are allowed to mark on this sheet if this will help.

First you need to get some slices of bread then you place them under a hot grill? Watch them carefully and turn them over when they are golden brown! When both sides are brown= take them off the grill and put them onto a plate.

Fetch a clean knife from the drawer, take the butter out of the fridge, use the knife to spread the butter on the toast.

Cut the toast into halves

Enjoy your toast.

You will need 2 slices of bread 1 knife tub of butter a plate a hot grill or toaster