

Once upon a time....

Can you remember a story that you particularly liked when you were younger? Perhaps it is a story that your parents read to you or that you heard in the infants at school.

For your homework I would like you to try and remember as much about the story as possible. Write down, in order, the main events that happen in the story.

Remember to think how the story starts and how the story ends. Make a note of all the people (the characters) in the story.
